

I request that FCC should not adopt/implement any proposal that would lessen Indiana's Telephone Privacy law protections. My household has been improved considerably by not receiving unsolicited/unwanted telemarketing calls, that mainly occur at meal times and the evening hours. This has permitted more use of my telephone for incoming and outgoing personal calls made by my family and friends. Before the Indiana Telephone Privacy law, I would receive an average of two calls per day, and now, 0-1 calls per month.
